Evan Sayet has written and/or produced in virtually every medium there is. Starting out as a standup comic he was quickly spotted by David Letterman and offered a spot on a special episode featuring young talent. Segueing into writing, he was an integral part of the team that made “The Arsenio Hall Show” the first late night program in thirty years to give “The Tonight Show” a run for its money and then the very first Creative Consultant on the highly respected “Politically Incorrect with Bill Maher” (back when Maher was funny). After that Evan wrote and produced the highest rated special in Discovery’s The Learning Channel’s history (“The 70’s: From Bellbottoms to Boogie Shoes”), perfected the book for a musical comedy,

National Veterans Awareness Week

110th CONGRESS - 1st Session
 October 26, 2007
 S. RES. 357
 IN THE SENATE OF THE UNITED STATES

RESOLUTION

Designating the week of November 11 through November 17, 2007, as “National Veterans Awareness Week” to emphasize the need to develop educational programs regarding the contributions of veterans to the country.

Whereas tens of millions of Americans have served in the Armed Forces of the United States during the past century;

Whereas hundreds of thousands of Americans have given their lives while serving in the Armed Forces during the past century;

Whereas the contributions and sacrifices of the men and women who served in the Armed Forces have been vital in maintaining the freedoms and way of life enjoyed by the people of the United States;

Whereas the advent of the all-volunteer Armed Forces has resulted in a sharp decline in the number of individuals and families who have had any personal connection with the Armed Forces;

Whereas this reduction in familiarity with the Armed Forces has resulted in a marked decrease in the awareness by young people of the nature and importance of the accomplishments of those who have served in the Armed Forces, despite the current educational efforts of the Department of Veterans Affairs and the veterans service organizations;

Whereas the system of civilian control of the Armed Forces makes it essential that the future leaders of the Nation understand the history of military action and the contributions and sacrifices of those who conduct such actions; and

Whereas in each of the years 2000 through 2006 the Senate has recognized the need to increase the understanding of the contributions of veterans among school-aged children by approving a resolution recognizing the week containing Veterans Day as “National Veterans Awareness Week”: Now, therefore, be it

Resolved, That the Senate —

(1) designates the week of November 11 through November 17, 2007, as “National Veterans Awareness Week” for the purpose of emphasizing educational efforts directed at elementary and secondary school students concerning the contributions and sacrifices of veterans; and

(2) encourages the people of the United States to observe National Veterans Awareness Week with appropriate educational activities.

In 1918, the 11th hour of the 11th day of the 11th month marked the cessation of World War I hostilities. This date is now designated in honor of our veterans, and a focal point for national observance is the placing of a wreath at the Tomb of the Unknown Soldier in Arlington National Cemetery.

Today, nearly 24 million (eight percent) of our countrymen are veterans. Of those, 33 percent served in Vietnam, 18 percent in the Gulf War, 14 percent in WWII and 13 percent in Korea. About three percent served in Iraq and Afghanistan and other counter-terrorism theaters. More than 25 percent of those veterans suffer some disability.

Please pause with us at 1100 EST this Sunday to pray for all our veterans.

Political Forum—October 13, 2007

— By Eldon Quick

Michael Lerew not being available, Eldon Quick took over duties as Forum Moderator. Hurry back Michael we miss you.

As so often happens, the issues that were hot and of great interest at the time of the Forum are cold and passé by the time the Newsletter comes out, but since the opinions expressed in the Forum are one of the best guides to true grass-roots opinion we have, we shall cover them none-the-less.

At the time of the Forum Al Gore had just received the Nobel Prize for promoting Peace in the World by pointing out to the world that the change in climate of 7/10ths deg. C. over the past 140 years is a moral disaster. The question asked was, has this Prize increased the prestige of Al Gore, or has it decreased the prestige of the Nobel Peace Prize? The unanimous opinion was that the prestige and meaning of the Prize could hardly be diminished any more than it already has been. “For the last 15 years the Prize has been little more than a Left Wing joke.”

The Forum turned then to the recent Republican Presidential Nomination debate hosted by Chris Mathews and some female co-leftist. The questions asked by the very biased moderators were very much of the “Have you stopped beating your wife?” kind. The question was: Do the candidates do any good for themselves by appearing in such hostile environments? The general opinion of the Forum members was that it is a waste of time for all involved, candidates, audience and undecided.

Newt Gingrich’s “American Solutions” presentation had just taken place the week before. Very few of the Forum members had seen it and there was no news coverage of it. Why not? Because there is no strong leader in the Republican Party capable of breaking through the News Media blackout of conservative views.

Harry Reid and others had just vilified Rush Limbaugh on the floor of the US Senate for his supposed comment about Democrat soldiers being “Phony Soldiers”. There was again talk of the necessity for the “Fairness Doctrine” being imposed to curtail such outrageous statements by the “out of control Right Wing Talk Radio”.

Never mind the fact that Rush had quickly pointed out that the phony soldiers he was talking about were indeed Phony Soldiers lying about their service, there were no apologies or retractions by those accusing him. So, what’s new?

Re: Ahmadinejad’s appearance at Columbia U: He should not have been invited, but since he was, he should have been treated with the respect a host owes his guest. On the other hand, many thought he should have been arrested and deported as soon as he set foot outside of the UN.

This question was asked: “In a primary, should one vote for the candidate one likes best, or for the candidate one thinks will win?” One Forum member brought up the recent Gubernatorial Primary where our choice was between Schwarzenegger and McClintock. Many voted for Schwarzenegger because we thought he could win. Oooops! A show of hands indicated we were unanimous in the opinion that we should vote for the candidate we believe in.

As we are all inundated with polls every other day, or even more often, purporting to show who is ahead in the “horse race” for the Party nomination, the question was asked: Do polls have any influence on your opinion or choice of candidate? The answer “No” was unanimous. Conclusion, polls, if not for their value as comedy relief, would be a complete waste of time.

The electronic version of our Newsletter is read by many more than just the membership. Be sure your opinion is represented in the Forum Report by attending the SCRW&M Forum starting at 11:30 am the day of the meeting. Come join the fun.

Don’t let another month go by without joining the Forum to discuss current events and exchange views with other members of the Club.

The Political Forum, a round table discussion of current topics, sets SCRW&M apart from other Republican organizations. Everyone is encouraged to participate in the discussion and debate of current issues.

Forum begins at 11:30am, prior to the monthly luncheon and adjourns at 12:55 pm.

Evan Sayet

wrote a screenplay optioned by Penny Marshall and even tried his hand at game shows – as the original writer of the cult classic “Win Ben Stein’s Money.”

The latest twist in Evan’s career came during the recent Presidential elections when he turned his attention and skills towards convincing others of the greatness of America and the need to reelect the President and stay the course in the Middle East. In short time Evan was made Communications Director for Los Angeles for President Bush, wrote a number of articles for major conservative outlets, was asked to offer weekly commentary on KMJ radio (an Infinity station) and began to deliver his lecture “Regurgitating the Apple: How Modern Liberals “Think”” to an ever-growing audience.

Evan is now one of the Los Angeles area’s most in-demand speakers -- a political pundit recognized as “brilliant” by Dennis Prager for his take on the unique power of the Judeo-Christian culture and singled out by Rush Limbaugh for his explanation of why Liberals lie. Evan has signed with one of the country’s top speaker’s bureaus – Nationwide – and has recently been booked at the highly prestigious Lincoln Clubs whose monthly roster of speakers includes the likes of Ken Starr, former US Secretary of the Treasury Rosario Marin, Ehud Danoch, Consul General of the State of Israel and others of that intellectual heft and importance.

At around the same time, Evan returned to his first love – standup comedy – only now with a decidedly conservative twist. As the headliner of a night of Conservative Comedy Evan calls his “Right to Laugh” tour Evan is planning a series of one-nighters around the country and will soon produce his first CD – “Funny, You Don’t Look Conservative.”

So, welcome to EvanSayet.com and, whatever your pleasure – serious or seriously funny – you’ll find it here.
